The heart of the Talsi old town is the Creative Yard of Talsi Culture Center, built in 2013, by attracting funding from the European Regional Development Fund, renovating and equipping a modern courtyard inhabited by artists, photographers, musicians and craftspeople. Roof terraces and courtyards are great venues for concerts, fairs and other events. Visitors have the opportunity to see the local craft works and also create their own souvenir by appointment, as well as go on a tour of the Creative Yard with one of the King's Daughters.

LET'S INSPIRE

Creative Yard Tour with King's Daughters

Talsi Culture Center is located on one of the 9 hills of Talsi - Ķēniņkalns (King's Hill). The legend is that a Couronian King named Lamekins was buried here, and the people brought soil in their hats and aprons to bury him and show their respect. Groups with a prior appointment can get acquainted with the complex of Talsi Culture Center and Creative Yard and enjoy the company of King's Daughters. 27842064, tautasnams.lv, tautasnams@talsi.lv

Creative Room "Patrepe"

Four local handicrafts ladies - Antra Auzina Bajare, Una Rozentāle, Mudīte Siliņa and Liene Šalkovska Jēkabsons - offer different workshops. Groups of up to 10 people can learn to create linen towel or a set of napkins in the pickling technique, and plait a traditional garter or belt by booking it in advance. 26404512, 26603150
